

Wisdom of Solomon 3 v 1-9

The souls of the righteous are in the hand of God,
and no torment will ever touch them.

In the eyes of the foolish they seemed to have died,
and their departure was thought to be a disaster,
and their going from us to be their destruction;
but they are at peace.

For though in the sight of others they were punished,
their hope is full of immortality.

Having been disciplined a little, they will receive great good,
because God tested them and found them worthy of himself;
like gold in the furnace he tried them,
and like a sacrificial burnt-offering he accepted them.

In the time of their visitation they will shine forth,
and will run like sparks through the stubble.

They will govern nations and rule over peoples,
and the Lord will reign over them for ever.

Those who trust in him will understand truth,
and the faithful will abide with him in love,
because grace and mercy are upon his holy ones,
and he watches over his elect.

John 11 v 32-44

³² When Mary came where Jesus was and saw him,
she knelt at his feet and said to him,
“Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.”

³³ When Jesus saw her weeping,
and the Jews who came with her also weeping,
he was greatly disturbed in spirit and deeply moved.

³⁴ He said, “Where have you laid him?”
They said to him, “Lord, come and see.”

³⁵ Jesus began to weep.

³⁶ So the Jews said, “See how he loved him!”

³⁷ But some of them said,
“Could not he who opened the eyes of the blind man
have kept this man from dying?”

³⁸ Then Jesus, again greatly disturbed, came to the tomb.
It was a cave, and a stone was lying against it.

³⁹ Jesus said, “Take away the stone.”

Martha, the sister of the dead man, said to him, “Lord, already there is a stench
because he has been dead four days.”

⁴⁰ Jesus said to her,
“Did I not tell you that if you believed,
you would see the glory of God?”

⁴¹ So they took away the stone.

And Jesus looked upward and said,
“Father, I thank you for having heard me.

⁴² I knew that you always hear me,
but I have said this for the sake of the crowd standing here,
so that they may believe that you sent me.”

⁴³ When he had said this, he cried with a loud voice,
“Lazarus, come out!”

⁴⁴ The dead man came out,
his hands and feet bound with strips of cloth,
and his face wrapped in a cloth.
Jesus said to them, “Unbind him, and let him go.”
